

Strut the Structures Guide

3/5/24 - 3/25/24

What is it?

CANstruction is an international hunger relief charity that raises millions of pounds of food each year for local food banks. Every year, CANstruction chapters hold design/build competitions citywide where teams create structures made of canned food to compete for awards in the following categories: Best Meal, Structural Ingenuity, Best Original Design, Most Cans, Best Use of Labels, and People's Choice awards. Winners from each local competition then go on to compete internationally in these categories.

Who is competing?

Architecture, Engineering and Construction firms from around Cincinnati, see next page.

Where and for how long are the structures up?

Many generous real estate partners in the city have offered to host the structures in their buildings - a map of the destinations is also on the next page. Teams will deconstruct their canned food structures for can donation to the Freestore Foodbank on March 25th.

Why?

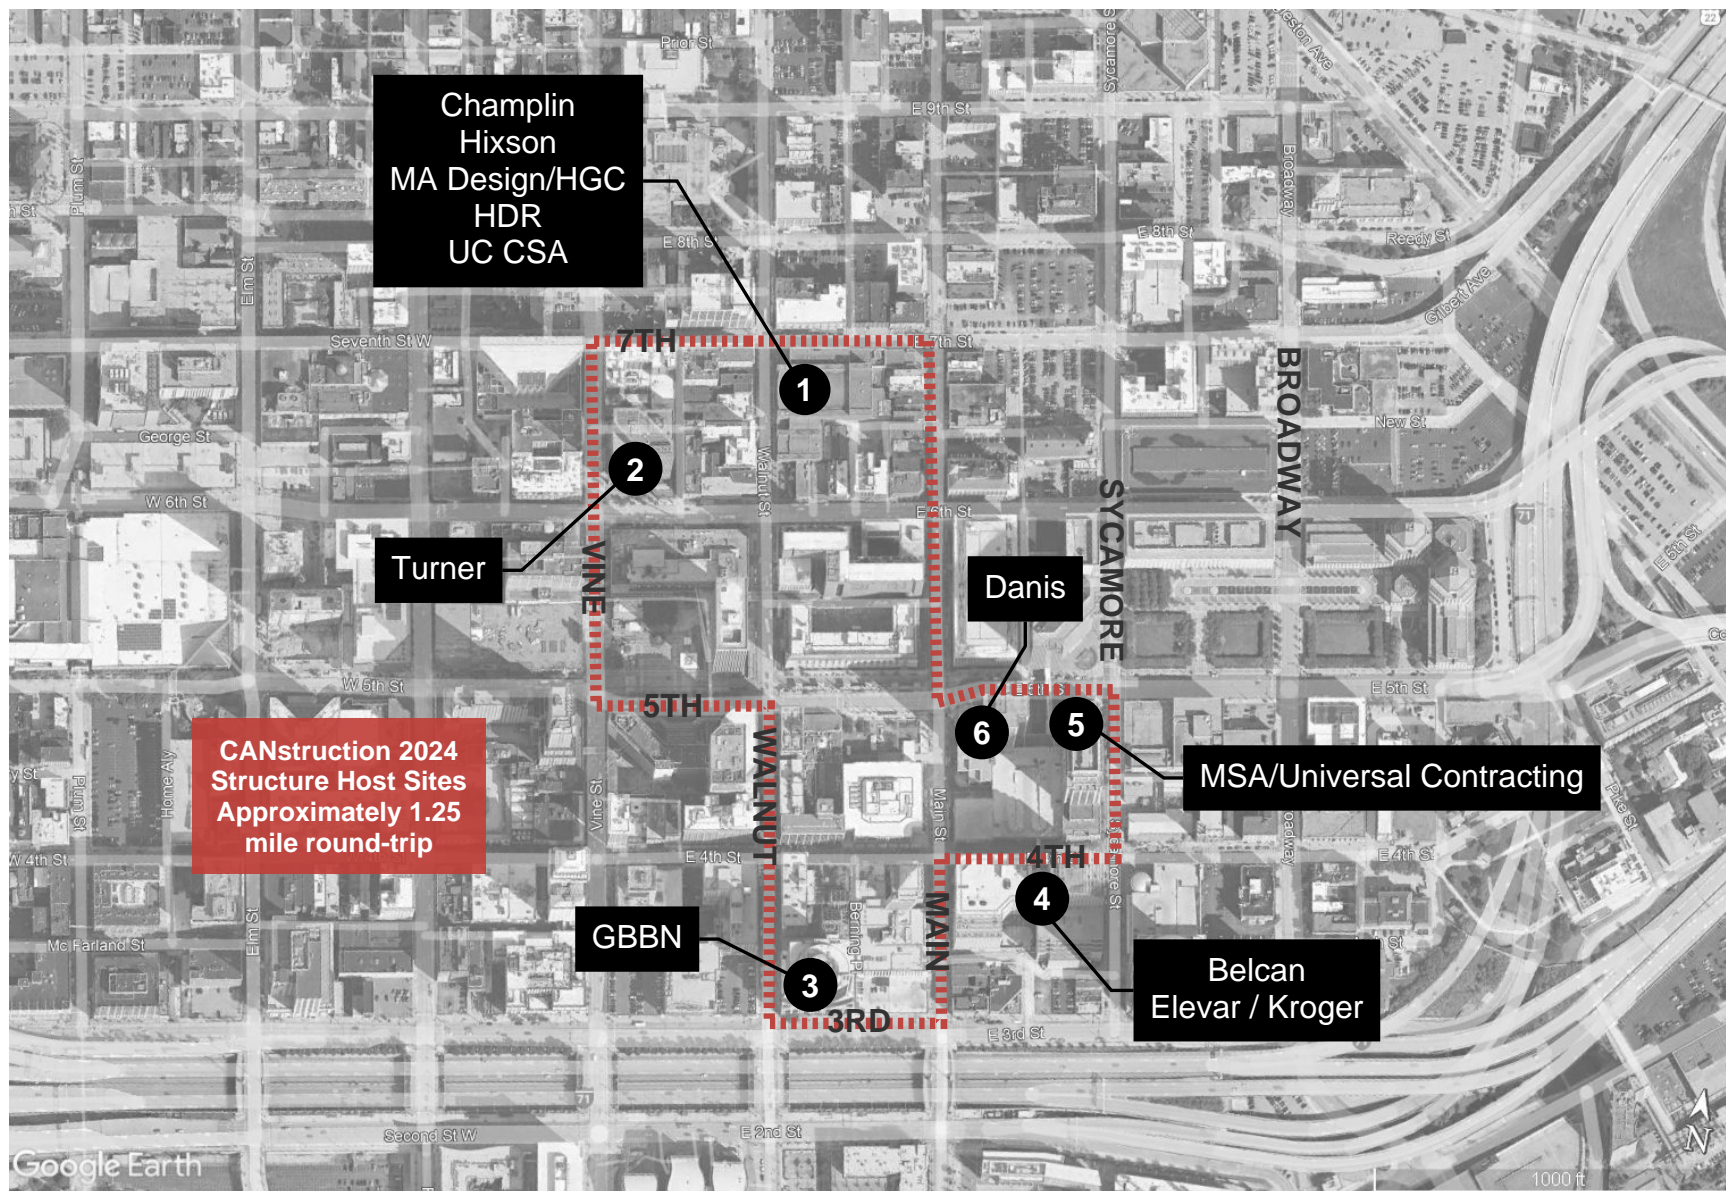

Food insecurity is present in 100% of all communities in America. While these can structures are worthy of being admired, our goal in organizing this showcase is to remind us all that we have neighbors, right next to us, who are food insecure
